HON SAMUEL M. RUTHERFORD

RECEIVES SERIOUS INJURY.

The Smooth Politician from the East Side a Senatorial Possibility.

Ardmore has entertained in the past few days no less than five distinguished gentlemen all of whom want to be our first governor. This is an important and honorable position, a position of responsibility and trust. There is, however, a much more coveted position, than that of a governor. This is a United States senatorship. The Senate of the United States has been compared to the House of Lords of England. There are hundreds of congressmen in Washington and an ordinary congressman attracts but little, if any, attention. Not so with a senator. To be a member of the dignified and august body means much, and without reference to the ability of the senator. The position, itself, carries a halo. It is much sought for—millions spend their millions to secure it. So far but one Indian Territory democrat has announced his desire to wear the senatorial toga. This is the Hon. Henry M. Furman of Ada. However, the numerous friends of Hon. Samuel M. Rutherford of Muskogee, a former Arkansan, are urging him to enter the race. Marlon Rutherford needs no introduction to the people of Ardmore. They will remember his vigorous fight in the Marcus-Welton contest. Marlon Rutherford is a graduate of the University of Virginia, a lawyer by profession, and one of the bravest men of the Indian Territory. He served as United States Commissioner at Afton and 2 years as United States marshal for the northern district. He made a good commissioner and a better marshal. After his retirement from the marshal's office Rutherford was elected mayor of Muskogee. It was under his vigorous administration that the city grew and prospered and much public improvement was done. Rutherford is a good speaker and a politician of considerable ability.

He will make a formidable candidate, as he has lots of friends throughout the territory.

PERSONAL NOTES

Cecil Burch of Gainesville is here shaking hands with friends.

Willie Munzshelmer was in the city yesterday attending the reunion.

C. A. Sken, a prominent merchant and banker of Wapanucka, is in the city.

John Law and J. C. Murphy were in the city from Pauls Valley yesterday attending the reunion.

Joe Everidge of Olat, and Columbus Ewing of Soper, were among the Indians attending the reunion.

R. H. Everett, who has been in the city attending business, returned yesterday to his home at Madill.

Dr. W. W. Porner of Tishomingo is a reunion looker-out. His report is Tishomingo is getting about fifty well.

J. J. McElly, division passenger agent of the Rock Island route, is in the city looking after business for his road.

Miss Maude Long and Miss Hess Harvey of Pauls Valley were in the city yesterday visiting friends and attending the reunion.

A. R. Cottle, office deputy U. S. marshal, returned from a trip to Salt Lake City, Denver, Manitou and Colorado Springs. Mr. Cottle says he had a good time.

Mrs. W. T. Culbertson of Kiowa. Mrs. D. M. Halley, Mrs. E. Poe Harb of McAlester, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Valcott, were pleasant callers at the Ardmore office yesterday.

L. S. Tyson, who served all during the Civil War under Col. Wisdom of Forest Cavalry, is an "old vet" attending the reunion. Mr. Tyson is a prominent citizen of Muskogee and takes quite an interest in local politics.

Mrs. W. T. Rodine and Miss Laura Jettin, both of Oklahoma City, were pleasant callers at the Ardmore office. Miss Jettin was one of the early residents of Ardmore, she and her family having resided here as far back as 1880. Ardmore then had three stores and about 150 inhabitants.

Captain John West, a brave old Confederate soldier, is in the city from Muskogee attending the reunion. West is the captain of the United States Indian Police, acting under Dana H. Kelsey, U. S. Indian Agent. Captain West is a Cherokee Indian and served under Stan Wattle, the famous Cherokee Confederate general.

AN APPRECIATED GIFT.

Clint Graham to Present Red and Gun Club with Enormous Tarpon.

J. C. Graham has had mounted an enormous tarpon, which he caught in Texas last fall and has presented it to the Ardmore Rod and Gun club, of which he is an active member. The tarpon is the largest which has ever been caught by any of the local fishermen, a party of whom go to Texas every year to enjoy the exciting sport of tarpon fishing. The fish when pulled from the water was six feet and five inches long and weighed 111 1/2 pounds. It was caught in June and has been in Texas since that time, where a taxidermist has been mounting it. The fish arrived Friday by express and was displayed in the show window of the Red Cross drug store Friday afternoon. It was taken to the Red and Gun Club lake yesterday and placed in the dining room of the new club house.

The fish is handsomely mounted and will make a nice ornament for the walls of that sportsmen's club house.

Please return my coat that you borrowed from the Elks' hall Friday night. OTTO BRADFORD.

All Were Fed.

The arrangement by the Commercial Club for feeding the multitude was carried out even unto the last day.

Saturday was really designated as ladies' day and truly it was the banner day in point of food distribution. The committee appointed by the Commercial Club stood by their post until all were satisfied. Hundreds of wooden trays laden with toothsome lunches, were passed out until the number to be fed was reduced to the capacity of the mess hall, after which all went to the banquet.

When all were fed there was found a bountiful supply yet on hand.

Mrs. J. W. Gollidge, Mrs. Stillwell H. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Ham P. Bee, C. P. Stevens, C. M. Joiner and H. H. Brown deserve special mention for their untiring energy in serving dinner to the people at the park yesterday.

Attention Macabees.

The order of Macabees will meet tomorrow night at the Oddfellows' hall in regular session. A number of important subjects are to be discussed.

GENERAL PLEASANT PORTER.

Principal Chief of Creek Nation and a Confederate Soldier.

General Pleasant Porter, the principal chief of the Creek nation, arrived in Ardmore from Muskogee, his home, Friday and is registered at the Whittington.

General Porter, so says President Roosevelt, is the greatest living Indian and many admirers of the general concur in the president's expression of opinion.

General Porter told the Ardmoreite writer that he had passed his 65th year, but he looks hale and hearty and is a splendid conversationalist and tells many an interesting story of his experience. Probably no man in the Indian Territory has been more in the public eye for the past thirty years than has Porter. But few of the important matters of the nation have been consummated but that General Porter has played a part. It was he who negotiated the treaty on behalf of the Creeks, disposing of their lands in Oklahoma. He has been a delegate to Washington some twenty-five or thirty times. In fact, for the past three years he has spent his winters in Washington, looking after legislation affecting the rights of his people. General Porter was one of the commissioners to negotiate the recent treaty with the Dawes commission. Elected six times principal chief, he now holds that office. General Porter was but a boy at the outbreak of the Civil war, but proffered his services to the Confederacy, serving under General Cooper, the then Chickasaw Indian agent.

General Porter is considered one of the wealthiest men in the Creek nation. Owning a magnificent home in Muskogee. He is particularly fond of fine horses and keeps a number of them in his stables. He is an avowed Democrat and thinks the Creeks are divided as to politics, the larger number of them, however, being Democrats.

"Ardmore presents a good front and I think the country surrounding it is beautiful," remarked Chief Porter. Just at this juncture he dashed his aide, who saluting, said: "General Porter, Generals Galt and Jordan present their compliments and desire you to report to headquarters at once." And the chief of the Creeks obeyed the commands and later was seen in the procession with his fellow heroes.

BREEDLOVE ON PROHIBITION

Dougherty, I. T., July 26.

Brother Brew's article on prohibition was timely and to the point. It is a question that is before us and cannot be downed. One writer says he prefers free whisky or absolute prohibition as to manufacture, sale, etc. We are with you on this but prefer the latter. But we are not here to discuss our likes and dislikes, but conditions that confront us. The enabling act prohibits for twenty-one years, except the legislature may enact certain measures, viz: Permit dispensaries in towns of 2,000 population or one dispensary in each county not having a town of 2,000 population; or druggist making bond not less than $1,000, etc.

With our first legislature rests the question, "Shall we have dispensaries or not?" If we make such laws we say to the drinking man, swear a lie and get your whisky. I am a Democrat and will support the party nominees. But we can elect men to our legislature who will give us clean laws and not legalize such hell holes as our drug stores would become if permitted to traffic in whisky. One writer forms a division of the party on this issue. The time and place to settle this question is in making our nominations, whether by primary election or convention. Then he Democratic. Come solidly to the front and vote for the nominee, accepting the action of the primary election as the will of the people. Our Bob says: "The marshals' can't apprehend the sale of whisky; how can a sheriff?" His argument falls flat to the ground. The sheriff is placed in his office by a majority of the voters. Hence his responsibility. He knows the moment he falls in his official duty off comes his head. Not so with the marshal. The people had no voice in placing him in office and can have none in regard to his official conduct. We want to hear from every candidate on this question and would like to have them express themselves in regard to state purchase and operation of coal mines, removal of restrictions, etc.

Our Democratic club is flourishing. We will have a big barbecue here on the 10th of August and invite as many of the candidates as can come and talk to us. J. W. BREEDLOVE.

GRANITE INDUSTRY.

Being Pushed at Tishomingo—Ardmore Man Back of Enterprise.

Mr. Peter Schuhl, of Ardmore, but recently from the U. S. navy yard of Charleston, S. C., where he has been employed, has just returned from Tishomingo where he has secured a permanent lease on a large tract of the famous Chickasaw granite, including inexhaustible supplies of both pink and gray granite. This granite field is traversed by the Pennington creek, most renowned for its pure waters of any other stream in the twin territories. A dam will be constructed creating an available two hundred horse power which will be utilized for operating the machinery necessary for quarrying and dressing largely supplies with promptness.

The product will be of rough and dressed building stones, columns, balustrades, curbstones, Belgian blocks, window and door sills, etc., and to meet any class of stone work. The materials can also be furnished in any dimensions needed for any building in the southwest. This is a great industry that only needs to be worked properly to make it one of the greatest in the new state, and adorn many beautiful homes and cities, and under the management of so capable and experienced a contractor as Mr. Schuhl, together with his associates, it is destined to succeed. With the improved methods of quarrying and dressing stone, all kinds of work can be turned out at such moderate prices that this beautiful native stone may be used extensively.

We bespeak for the enterprise abundant success and entertain the hope that in the many improvements of our city we may see this stone used. Give it the name of the Chickasaw Granite City.

The main office will be at Ardmore and a branch office at Tishomingo.
